Adrian: any news on the lawyer front?
me: I can't say anything specific yet but aside from Stanley Cohen, there might be someone else with an even more interesting case history Adrian: alright...
Adrian: can you tell me anything off the record?
me: embargo
Adrian: sure me: they'd be making the announcement me: remember the Symbionese Liberation Army?
Adrian: yep
me: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tony_Serra Adrian: wow me: but I should note that may not come through me: it's just what's being worked on me: oh, also me: David House is the one who got me in touch with the European lawyers we're trying to arrange on that end Adrian: so I assume you've been in contact with some of the people arrested?
Adrian: and they don't have their own lawyers? me: yes, I've been in contact with several of them for months now, as I first arranged for the NLG and Cohen to get involved shortly after the January raids me: and then two more have reached out to me in past two days me: one has a lawyer in his state but is being advised now by a legal team being arranged by a certain firm me: another had no counsel and no financial means of procuring any Adrian: do you have any idea why one name was left off the indictment me: I would imagine because the person concerned is under 18 Adrian: ah
Adrian: makes sense
